 Lieut Samuel Beard Deed Brought for Record the 17th day of June 1726 and Recorded by me—Joseph Curtiss Register—in ye 4th Book folio 50—

Author's Preface.

The originator of this Beard genealogy was Rev. John Gunn Beard, of Ellington, Conn. He collected and verified many of the early records of the family. After his death, his widow gave the papers to Rev. Willard L. Beard, of Foochow, China, to arrange, but he did not find the time to do the necessary work. Mrs. Martha Clark and Miss Emily Beard, of Milford, Conn., next undertook the task, but ill health prevented their compiling the book. Then the records were placed in my hands for completion.

In collecting and arranging these records, care has been taken to verify, as far as possible, the dates of births, marriages and deaths and other statements.

Efforts have been made to trace each descendant, but many letters have been either returned or unanswered. Doubtless errors will be found, but from those who have wrestled with a similar work and realize the difficulties attendant upon it I am sure I shall have an appreciative sympathy.

The sources, not otherwise mentioned, from which I have verified much of the history of the Beard family, are Savage's Genealogical Dictionary, Orcutt's Histories of Derby and Stratford, The Colonial Records, Connecticut Men of the Revolution, the early records of Milford, Stratford and Huntington, Lambert's History of the New Haven Colony, Mr. Erastus Scranton's History of the Township of Milford, Story of the Memorial in Honor of the Founders of the Town of Milford, by Nathan C. Pond, and Who's Who in America.

To Mr. Oliver G. Beard of Shelton, Conn., is due thanks for the financial aid necessary in the publication of these records and for the loaning of the old manuscripts from which the three plates in this book are taken.

To the various members of the family who have so generously helped in preparing these records I wish to express my gratitude for their courtesy and hope they will find their reward in seeing their line of descent traced and preserved for future generations.

SHELTON, CONN., May 12, 1915.

A Short History of the Founding of Milford, Conn.

Since Widow Martha Beard was one of the first settlers of Milford, it may interest her descendants to include in this book a little of the early history of that town.

In the spring of 1639, the English first began to make a settlement in Milford.

The colonists arrived in Boston, Mass., June 26, 1637, in two ships, one called Hector. They came down to New Haven, Conn., and remained there during the year 1638.

On Feb. 2, 1639, agents in behalf of the settlers made the first purchase of land from the Indian proprietors. "It comprehended the tract of land lying between the East river and the Housatonic, and the sea with the Island south, and the two mile Indian path to Paugasset (Derby) north." The consideration given was "6 coats, 10 blankets, 1 kettle, 12 hatchets, 12 hoes, 2 dozen knives and a dozen small glasses (mirrors)."

"The instrument was signed on the day aforesaid, by the Sagamore and his council. The business was transacted with formality and possession given according to the Indian method of 'twig and turf.' A twig and a piece of turf being brought to the Sagamore, he placed the end of the branch in the clod and then gave it to the English as token he thereby surrendered to them the soil and all the trees and appurtenances."

In all, eight separate purchases of land were made, buying "twig and turf and all," the Indians reserving to themselves the rights of hunting, fowling and fishing throughout the whole tract.

The number of free planters in the colony was 44, no others having the liberty to act in the choice of carrying on public affairs in the plantation. They were all professors of the Christian religion. Altogether there were probably about 200 individuals and 54 families in the settlement.

The body of planters traveled from New Haven to Milford by land, following the devious Indian foot path and driving their cattle and other domestic animals before them. Their materials for the common house and their farming utensils they sent around by water. Sergeant Timothy Tibbals piloted the company through the woods, he having been there before and liking the place.

Upon arriving in Milford, they erected the common house and a few rude huts for their temporary abodes. As soon as they were established they combined themselves into a little republic.

At their first meeting, held Nov. 20, 1639, it was "voted and agreed that the power of electing officers and persons to divide the land into lots, to take orders for the timber, and to manage the common interests of the plantation should be in the church only, and that the persons so chosen should be only from among themselves."

Also, "voted that they would guide themselves in all their doings by the written Word of God, till such a time as a body of laws should be established."

These first settlers located on each side of the Mill river and West End brook. Their "house lotts" were laid out in parallel slips, containing about three acres each. Some had double lots—two slips adjoining. In consideration of her affliction, Widow Martha Beard was given an extra amount of "house lott," her share being 4a. 1r. Each planter had to erect a good house on his lot within three years, or it was to go back to the town.

The Indian name of this town was Wepowage. On Nov. 24, 1640, with the common consent and the general vote of the freemen the plantation was named Milford.

At a general meeting Nov. 22, 1643, it was voted how many acres of "house lott," upland and meadow should be assigned to each of the settlers, of whom only six had as large a portion as Widow Martha Beard. She had 6 acres of "house lott," 37½ of upland, and 19 of meadow. At three different times the allotment of land given to her by the town was increased.

The pastor of this colony, Peter Prudden, came from Edgeton, Yorkshire, England, and probably most of the planters came from Yorkshire and Herefordshire, England, where he preached previous to his immigration.

Many of them came to New England in Messrs. Eaton's and Davenport's company. Other of the colonists came from Wethersfield, Conn., where Mr. Prudden preached prior to the settlement at Milford. These originally came from Essex, England, in Sir Richard Saltonstall's Company.

The names of these first settlers are engraved on the Memorial Bridge in Milford, and with the names is inscribed this quotation from Straughton, of the Massachusetts colony, "God sifted a whole nation that he might send choice seed-grain over into this wilderness."

A Genealogy of the Descendants of Widow Martha Beard.

FIRST GENERATION.

1. Martha Beard came from England, with her husband and five children, and settled in Milford, Conn., in 1639. She was one of the first settlers of that town. Her husband, whose name tradition says was James, and probably this is correct as his eldest son was called James, died on the ship (Martin?) in passage from England to America. She was admitted to the First Congregational Church of Milford, Nov. 1, 1640. This church was organized in 1639. She died June 11, 1649.

It is interesting to note that the "house lott" originally owned by Widow Martha Beard has never been deeded out of the family, but has passed down in the line of direct descent from generation to generation and is now owned by George J. Smith. The old house has been removed and Mr. Smith resides in another, erected near the site of the old Beard homestead.

Mr. Charles C. Beard, of Shelton, Conn., has in his possession a sword which, tradition says, was brought from England by Martha Beard and her husband. It is a straight, very narrow, two-edged, pointed sword, evidently used for thrusting. This rapier type of sword was used in England during the latter part of the sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries.

SECOND GENERATION.

Children of Martha Beard.

2. James, died 1612, unmarried. His estate was settled by Captain Astwood, Judge, and was the first estate administered upon in Milford.
3. John. There is a story that this John, who was a carpenter by trade, landed in Milford just as the frame of the large, two-galleried, blue church had been erected, and that he took a sledge-hammer and, walking all over the frame, struck every pin in it to show what he could do.

From early records, we learn that he was a prominent citizen of the town of Milford. He was the ancestor of all of that name in that vicinity. Tradition says that he was a man of import. He was born in England and came to America with his mother, in 1639. He was married about 1653 to Anna Hawley, sister of Joseph Hawley, of Stratford, Conn. She had previously been the wife of John Uffoote, (modern Oviatte), but at her desire had been divorced from him. She was a peculiar woman, as old records show. He was one of the 46 persons enrolled as freemen in Milford, September, 1669. At a meeting of the Council of Connecticut, Jan. 17, 1675, he was appointed captain of a Military company, and he took part in King Phillip's war. He was chosen deputy from Milford to the General Court for the October term, 1677, and was a member at most of the semi-annual sessions for seven years in succession—the exceptions being October, 1681, and 1683, and May and October, 1684. There was no session in 1688, Andross being in power. The last session when he was a member was in May, 1690. He was therefore elected 22 times out of 26. He was frequently appointed by the General Court, commissioner to settle boundaries, etc. His name appears often on the Colonial Records, and always as Captaine John Beard.

He died September, 1690. His estate was valued at 1180 pounds, 5 shillings, and 50 pence. One-third of it was given to the widow, and the rest was divided among his children. Wife died 1698.

4. Jeremiah was propounded for freeman by the General Court at Hartford, May 11, 1671. He married but died without children in 1681. His estate was divided between his brother, Capt. John Beard, John Streame and Nicholas Camp, husbands of his sisters, says the record. Lambert adds, "They may have let their wives have a little of it."

Sarah 5. A daughter who married Nicholas Camp. She died 1689.

6. Martha, married John Streame, Dec. 20, 1649. He came with his uncle, Zechariah Whitman, from London to Boston, on the "True-love," Sept. 19, 1635, being then 14 years old. He came to Milford in 1646 and was propounded freeman of Connecticut, 1665. He was confirmed ensigne of the Milford Traine-Band, 1669. Widow Streame died June 22, 1706. Husband died 1685.

THIRD GENERATION.

3. Children of John and Anna (Hawley) Beard.

7. John, born June 27, 1654. He married (1) Sarah ——. She died Sept. 19, 1703. He married (2) Abigail Hollingworth, March 15, 1705. He died Aug. 24, 1708. His gravestone is still in the Milford cemetery.
8. Elizabeth, born Sept. 20, 1656. She died unmarried.
9. Mary, born Nov. 12, 1658. She married Serg. Timothy Baldwin, son of Timothy (the settler) and Mary (Mappam). She died Nov. 29, 1703. Husband born June 12, 1658. He died Dec. 8, 1703.

10. James, born Dec. 4, 1661. He died 1709, unmarried.

Extracts from the will of James Beard, dated Feb. 14, 1709:

In the name of God, Amen. The last will and testament of James Beard, of Milford, in the County of New Haven, in the Colony of Connecticut, in New England.

To John and Joseph, sons of my bro' Joseph, 10 pounds each in pay. To Sarah, dau. of Joseph, 5 pounds in pay. To Samuel and Nathan, sons of my bro' Samuel, 10 pounds each. To Deborah and Abigail, dau's of Samuel, 5 pounds each. To Sarah, Ann and Mary, dau's of Jeremiah, 5 pounds each. To Elizabeth, Anna, Margaret, William and Jonathan, children of Wm. Fowler, 5 pounds each in pay. To Benjamin, Hannah, Sarah, and Elizabeth Clark, children of my sister, Sarah, 5 pounds each. To Mary Camp, Anna Farrand, and Billings Baldwin, children of my sister, Mary, 20 s. each. To my cousin, Abigail Beard, 20 s. All my land and meadow in the Mill Brook lot, and all the lot we had of Mr. Law, and my right of land in New Milford, to be divided among my brothers' sons then surviving (James excepted) when they become of age.

11. Anna, born 1664. She married William Fowler, of Milford, son of William (the settler) and Mary Tapp. She died June 25, 1740. Husband born 1664. Husband died Feb. 23, 1728. They lived and died in Milford, and their gravestones are still in the cemetery there.
12. Joseph, born July 20, 1666. He was married (1) to Sarah Sanford, of New Haven, Conn., April 10, 1701, by Robert Treat, Deputy Governor. Wife died March 4, 1703. He was married (2) to Sarah, daughter of Benjamin and Mary (Baldwin) Smith, June 27, 1705, by Capt. Samuel Eells, Esq. Wife born Oct., 1671. Wife died Oct. 30, 1732. He died November, 1732. His gravestone is still in the Milford cemetery, and beside it is one marked Mrs. Sarah Beard, but the rest of the inscription is illegible.
13. Samuel, born Feb. 4, 1669. He was married to Sarah Clark, July 8, 1696, by Thomas Clark, Justice. He was ensigne of the Milford Traine-Band, May, 1715, and lieutenant October, 1723. He removed with his whole family to the parish of Ripton, now the town of Huntington, in 1726. He died 1754. His wife was probably the daughter of Ensign George and Deborah (Gold) Clark, Jr., and, if so, was born June 4, 1678.

The following is a copy of the deed of sale of land bought by Lieutenant Samuel Beard when he and all his family moved from Milford to Ripton, now

Huntington, in 1726. The original deed is now in the possession of Oliver G. Beard, Sr., "Century Farm," Shelton, Conn.:

ELECTIONEERING FALSEHOODS.

ON the 1st of August last, the following piece, purporting to be a correct account of the celebration of the 4th of July, in the town of Huntington, appeared in the Republican Farmer:—

“Huntington, July 5, 1804.

“ABOUT the last of June, the republican citizens of this town agreed to meet at Judson's inn, the 4th of July, to celebrate the day which gave birth to the liberties of America; our federal neighbours were cordially invited to join in the celebration of the day. The republicans met according to previous arrangement. The Aristocratic friends of order, in humble imitation of their royal ancestors, sneaked away to a place known here by the name of Poufal-street, in an obscure corner of the town, on which the cheering rays of the sun but faintly shines, and, in that fit retreat, performed their bacchanalian orgies, unnoticed only by the report of republican cannon. The afternoon of that auspicious day was spent by the republicans in a truly festive and rational manner; eighteen toasts were drank, under a discharge of artillery. “Luxury crowned the board; wine sparkled in the flowing bowl; harmony charmed the ear,” and the day was closed with a full conviction that the next Anniversary of our independence would find this State added to the number of republican States, from which she has so long been divided by the wicked machinations of an unprincipled aristocracy.”

Soon after the appearance of the above, a number of federalists, belonging to Huntington, drew up and sent the following correction, which was handed to the Editor of the “Farmer” for publication:

“HUNTINGTON, AUG. 27, 1804.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE “REPUBLICAN FARMER.” OBSERVING an anonymous Piece, published in the “Republican Farmer,” No. 38, giving a description of the celebration of the 4th of July, by the Republicans of the town of Huntington; and likewise some observations respecting the conduct of the FEDERALISTS on that day; and believing that (as the Editor of a newspaper) you would not knowingly publish an erroneous statement, you are requested to publish the following Certificate:

We the undersigned certify, That the piece published in the Republican Farmer, No. 38, purporting to be a description of the celebration of the 4th of July, by the Republicans of the town of Huntington, contains many infamous falsehoods.

In the first place, it is not true, that our federal neighbours were cordially invited to join in the celebration of the day: In the next place, it is not true, that “the aristocratic friends of order” (by whom is evidently meant “our federal neighbours”) are defended from “our ancestors;” and lastly, it is not true, that they sneaked away to an obscure corner of the town, to a place known here by the name of Poufal-street, where the cheering rays of the sun doth but faintly shine, and there performed their bacchanalian orgies. And we the undersigned, believing that the authors of the above-mentioned publication, ought to be known to the public, and particularly to the inhabitants of the town of Huntington; do certify, that we have good evidence, that Col. AGUR JUDSON, Dr. WILLIAM SHERRON, and PHILIP ANDRUS, Esq. were the authors. (Signed)

Balmorine Judd,

When the above was presented, Mr. Osborne observed, that he could not publish it that week for want of room. The gentleman who handed it for publication, replied, that unless he would engage to publish it before Freeman's Meeting, he would procure it to be inserted in the New-England Republican. To prevent this, Osborne promised, unconditionally, that it should appear the week before Freeman's Meeting. Upon the appearance of the paper this week, the gentleman, observing that the correction had not been inserted, waited upon the Editor to know his reasons for not fulfilling his promise; Osborne, with matchless civility, prematurely, and that upon further calculation, he found that if he published it this week, his party would not have time to answer it before Freeman's Meeting.

Now the plain English of this is, “though we have published a number of falsehoods, we will not retract them until they have had their effect; but in order to prevent you from publishing any denial of them, we promise to do it, the week before Freeman's Meeting; so that, though we do not intend to publish it ourselves, it will be too late for you to do it.” Thus, by telling one more lie, we will prevent the rectification which we have already published, from being contradicted, until the purpose is answered for which we fabricated them.”

This Osborne, Fellow-Citizens, is the Editor of the Republican Farmer; and is employed for the purpose of giving correct information to the public upon the important concerns of Politics and Morals. This is that same little insignificant scoundrel who has so often charged the Federalists with falsehoods. This is that same CONTRACTION of a man, who has to catch repeated calumnies against Mr. Allen and Mr. Tracy. This is that same blustering, empty-headed pomposity, who a short time since, addressing the Federalists, exclaimed, “MISCREANTS OF UNCOMMON TURPITUDE! WHERE WILL YOUR FALSEHOODS END?”

Fellow-Citizens! Can you any longer give credit to a man who thus disregards his own promises? Who can wilfully tell a LIE to accomplish the profligate designs of his party? Who, after publishing falsehoods, has not the candour to retract them?
